It's fair week in the Everglades. We're not speaking of the weather. It has been anything but fair. More of that "unusual" kind.

Today the Lake Region welcomes south Florida visitors. It is our sincere hope that each visitor will leave this area with a favorable impression of the folks who make up our citizenry.

The Legislature is off to a new start. At the end of 60 days we shall see what the group has accomplished. In these times the members of the house and senate have an opportunity to carve a niche in history for themselves. Let's hope they do something for the betterment of the state.

POLITICAL GENIUS' BUDS
That peerless politician, Mark Hanna, was once making an inspection of one of his factories when he overheard one young employee remark to another, "I wish I had old Hanna's money, and he was in the poor-house."
"Then what would you do?" inquired

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

It may always be "fair weather" but now fellows get together when legislators go into a building and start singing "There'll be Some Changes Made" that is when storm clouds gather.

Down in Miami last week, I found a lot of folks viewing with alarm the prospect of legislative action that would put a crimp in the tourist business and they are plenty worried.

A survey made recently by the Miami Herald shows that while "climate" is the city's outstanding attraction and accounts for approximately 75 percent of their tourist trade, the next strongest appeal is racing which is directly responsible for 15 percent of the Magic City's annual income of winter visitors.

Each year state revenue from horse and dog racing, which is healthy increase with every county benefiting equally. Millions of dollars have been invested by racing establishments in Florida and the industry has prospered largely due to the fact that this state has legislated wisely and intelligently in the matter of supervision and taxation.

There are some who contend that the state should substantially increase its "take" from Miami and that a higher percentage would prove profitable from the standpoint of greatly increased revenue.

Hanna, suddenly confronting the speaker. Quick as a wink the young man replied, "Well, I guess the first thing I would do would be to get you out of the poor-house."
"Push that box along," Hanna remonstrated later to his superintendent. "He's too loud a politician to keep down."—Wall St. Journal.

POETIC INDIANS

The town and counties named by the Indians and their meanings are given by the Eustis Lake Region, speaking of that immediate section. They are as follows: Umatilla, Horse Heaven; St. Pauline, Peace River; Apopka, Big potato; Oklawaha, Crooked Stream; Astahula, Light Flashing on Water; Okchochee, Big Pond; Welaka, Water of the Sun.

This comes extremely favorably with the paleface nomenclature tagging towns and cities after some suddenly rich and important nobody. Look at them: Jacksonville, Jacksonville, Smithville, Harrisburg, Seminoleville, Hawkinsville, Baggsville, Simpkinsville, and so on to infinity with the "villes," "buros," "burgs."

When the paleface was a little too bent on extermination when he was on the war-path, which, however, was only when he was awake, and not noted for a burning desire to labor, but he never learned to play "skin" on the pale face style when doing business.

We have lived with the Indians and with the pale face, and we would rather do business with the former, too, one than with the latter. The Indian will stick to his word.—Lake Wales Highlander.

FULLER'S FULMINATIONS

By Fuller Warren

This week I am going to let you in on the inside of the state budget. State funds for the health of its 1,877,789 citizens. I hate to have you tell me that the amount is only a drop in the bucket.

The sum of $103,475.00 was spent for salaries by the State Board of Health, and $101,521.00 was spent for other operating costs of this vital department of the State government.

The State Board of Health spent $88,294.14 last year for the prevention of venereal disease.

For maternal and child health a gigantic pitance of $83,472.21 was spent by the State last year. I say it is a "gigantic pitance" because Florida has such a high mortality rate for mothers in childbirth. For too much of this mortality is due to inadequate medical care for rural mothers in childbirth, which is caused by their inability to pay for it.

The State ought to provide every mother with adequate medical care in childbirth. This duty is far more binding on the State than many other functions which it now performs at great expense to the taxpayers. Everyone agrees that the State should educate the young. But it is far more important that the young should be brought into the world with a fair chance to live to go to school and grow up.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics, which keeps the records of births, deaths, marriages and divorces spent $27,204.27 last year.

The sum of $15,557.31 was spent for "maternal research" last year. I had thought that a complete and adequate care for malaria, or rather prevention of malaria, had been found. I wonder what was discovered by that $15,000.00 worth of researching?

The impeding of drug stores cost the State $7,605.68 last year. The Florida Hotel Commission cost $108,257.02 last year, $66,149.46 of which was spent for salaries.

The sum of $902,162.31 was spent by the State last year on agriculture. This sum was spent by the many agencies that are dedicated and devoted to the promotion of agriculture in Florida, such as the State Plant Board, the Agricultural Extension Service, the several Experiment Stations, and numerous other similar agencies. Florida's vast income from agriculture, well warrants the expenditure of this sum for its promotion.

Livestock is rapidly becoming one of Florida's biggest-paying industries. It is estimated to rank almost at the top in cattle production among all the states in the Union. To promote livestock development the State of Florida spent $234,635.31 last year. Most of this money was spent in carrying on the work of tick eradication.

Florida has few assets more valuable than her forests (timber and turpentine). Therefore, it is not surprising that the State spent $151,299.20 last year trying to conserve and develop its forests. But this can never be done adequately until wood-burning is stopped. The State's fifteenth birthday is conservatively estimated by the State Board of Forestry that wood-burning destroyed $8,881.717.00 worth of property last year. It is also estimated by the same board that more than 70% of all forest fires are deliberately and wilfully set by incendiaries. Most everybody knows why these fires are set. And most everybody knows how it can be stopped.

The State Game Department spent $214,513.32 last year. I don't think any citizen who ever fired a gun at a flying fowl or any species of ferine nature (wild animal) will begrudge that expenditure.

Next week I am going to dig up and deal out some more fascinating facts about State finances. For instance, I am going to tell you what it costs to operate the Raftord State Prison, the State Asylum, the University of Florida, the Women's College at Tallahassee, the colored college in the same city, and infirmity ad nauseam.

Those of you who have had the patience and the persistence to "plough" through the "continued story" of the State's finances that I have culminated the pages of this excellent organ of enlightenment for the past several weeks know that I signed off last week with a threat to tell this week about the cost of maintaining state buildings, the highway patrol, the State Police, and a flock of other functions of state government.

A total of $449,050.10 was spent last year on general government buildings of the State. $140,312.68 of this sum was spent in constructing a power plant at the Florida State House. The State also spent $100,000.00 for furniture, fixtures and equipment for this plant. $60,990.38 was spent on the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Orlando.

There was spent for salaries and labor on the Capitol building and grounds the sum of $15,048.85. For the care and upkeep of the Governor's mansion the sum of $7,828.24 was expended. One $96.26 was spent for furnishings in the Governor's mansion. There was spent most for spending in the State's beautiful the State's office; it was so superlatively adorned and embellished by the lovely, charming First Lady who graced it that it would have been entirely superfluous to spend a lot of money trying to make it more attractive.

And speaking of the Governor's mansion, I am reminded that it is among the four or five most attractive and impressive in the United States. A few months ago pictures of every Governor's Mansion in the Union appeared in LIFE Magazine, and it was easy to see that Florida's is among the top four or five. I would not be ashamed to reside there.

The sum of $450,055.57 was spent for State policing (the State Highway Patrol).

The Florida National Guard cost the taxpayers $112,794.19 last year.

A total of $2,607,787.16 was spent last year for the regulation of public service occupations and inspections. Some of the public service commissions and boards are as follows: (1) Railroad Commission, which spent $2,924.99 last year for salaries; (2) Florida Securities Commission, which incurred expenditures of $12,597.22; (3) Florida Milk Commission, which ran up an expense of $22,741.12; (4) State Board of Law Examiners—expenses, $2,050.00; (5) Real Estate Commission—expenses $41,040.55; (6) Barber's Examination Commission—expenses $1,661.18; (7) State Board of Beauty Culture Examiners—expenses $41,882.87; (8) Florida Day Cleaning and Laundry Board—expenses $25,347.05; (9) Florida Workmen's Compensation Fund—expenses $108,911.79.

There was spent for egg inspection by the State last year the sum of $44,348.99. (Columbus' Note: This inspection did not cover the eggs that were thrown in the presidential campaign last fall.)

The tidy sum of $550,008.04 was spent last year for citrus fruit inspection.

The Florida Citrus Commission spent $61,630.31 last year. The Agriculture Marketing Board spent $127,949.95 last year. The following sums were spent for ADVERTISING by the State last year: (1) Bureau of Immigration—advertising, Florida, $75.00; (2) orange advertising—$230,372.77; (3) grapefruit advertising—$451,565.87; (4) tangerine advertising—$129,540.56. A lot of people wonder if the State is getting its money's worth on its citrus advertising.

The Everglades Fire Control District spent $23,500.39 last year. If just one fire was prevented it was worth the money.

Next week I am going to reveal what the State of Florida spends for the health of its citizens.

DOUBLE ROMANCE OF "KITTY FOYLE"
A white collar girl's contrasting romances color the dilemma of Ginger Rogers in her newest vehicle "Kitty Foyle."

In the title-role of this exciting film version of the best-seller by Christopher Morley, Miss Rogers has what is said to be her most gripping and appealing characterization.

As a salty Irish lass in Philadelphia she grows up to envy the wealthy socialites of the city, and gets a job as secretary to one of them. The acquaintance leads to a short-lived marriage, annulled by Kitty herself when the boy's family refuse to let them lead the life they have planned.

She even keeps secret that she's going to have a baby, when she learns he is going to marry a very pretty girl. But despite her sacrifice and her chat thinking she can't forget him—and that leads to the absorbing climax of the picture.

Let's see what she's got to say about it.

The Letter, pronounced by newscasters and announcers alike to be the finest of all Miss Davis' pictures, is based on W. Somerset Maugham's most brilliant stage drama, originally presented on Broadway with Katharine Cornell in the starring role. It is the story of a woman who surrenders for love, and the consequences she suffers, even though the law acquits her. A searching drama, directed with delicacy and restraint by William Wyler, and brilliantly acted by Betty Davis as a strong supporting cast. It has been selected by Red Book Magazine as the Best Picture of the Month.

Dr. Nowlin Speaks—

gregation sang selections from the new Broadman hymnals which have been provided for the pew.

Three very happy men occupied the pulpit, namely Rev. C. B. Jones, who was instrumental in the early formation of the congregation and its first appointed pastor, and an active worker in the church, Dr. W. D. Nowlin, of Arcadia, who presided at the official formation of the church congregation, and the pastor, Rev. S. B. Jordan, who has had such a large part in the procuring of the new church home. Each of these men had a prominent part in the ceremonies of the day, and performed them with much satisfaction and pleasure.

Rev. Jordan, pastor, spoke on the loyal support which had been given by the congregation of the officers, members of churches, clubs, the public, and the Ladies' Aid, in making this church a reality. For this service he thanked all in behalf of the congregation. This is the fifth church building which has been erected in the community. The church was composed of J. S. Chastain, S. E. E. Jordan, Mrs. George, Mrs. J. B. Cox, Mrs. G. L. Sims and Mrs. Cox Griger. Mr. Chastain made a few remarks on behalf of the committee and then turned over the keys to the chairman of the church, Lawton Sims, who received them with words of thanks and appreciation.

The congregation was indeed fortunate to have on this occasion as the guest speaker of the day, Dr. Nowlin, who for 50 years has been a prominent pastor and administrator in the Southern Baptist convention. During the four score year period in life, he showed no less in his ability to lead, in his interesting old time gospel sermon, one he stated he had never preached before, based on the text found Romans 1:14, "I am debtor both to the Greeks and the Barbarians, to the wise and the unwise. I am theme was 'The Baptist Debt to the World'."

Rev. Jones, presented the historical record of the Baptist church, which is to be preserved for the archives and records of the congregation.

Following the morning service a fellowship gathering was held under the church lawn cypresses, where the tables were set with an

1941 Legislature
Opened This Week
For 60 Day GrindGovernor Holland Puts His Plans Before
The Assembly

Tallahassee, April 10 Tuesday witnessed the grand opening of the 1941 Florida Legislature upon which rests the hopes of thousands of payers, businessmen, labor, aged and destitute persons, bond holders, students, and various and sundry other groups and interests. The 1941 session faces many problems, and trouble some questions, some inherited from 1939 session and some which have been since that time. In the past, the session of 1941 has been well informed with 12 new and 21 old senators, and 12 new and 21 old representatives. The session is a balance of the new members, balanced by the experience of the veterans may achieve the wholesome results hoped for by the public, but there are many competent observers who are predicting an exciting and a race track to afford time for the ironing out of the numerous conflicts which have arisen over the session started and which will arise during its course.

A brief glance at some of these problems and the session is a great task before this session. The allocation of the seven-cent gas tax is one of the major problems. The county and community in the state is crying for more and better roads, national highways, and state highways, and the State Road Board states that it needs more than 144 million dollars to take care of the state's roads. A brief glance at some of these problems and the session is a great task before this session.

Governor Holland has proposed a nine-point program. The principal item of which gives the State Road Department four cents in each of the three it now receives, and gives the counties two cents for the payment of road and bridge bonds in the place of the three cents they now receive. But the Association of County Commissioners is bitterly opposing this proposed change. The association is claiming that such action will bankrupt the counties and force the levying of unbearable taxes upon county taxpayers. Bond holders, desiring the best possible security for their bonds, will be active in shaping legislative action on gas tax legislation.

The three major steps proposed by the Brookings Institute, which have the tacit approval of Governor Holland are certain to be the subject of prolonged discussion. The first recommendation proposes an independent, strict budget control of all funds collected and disbursed. This is, in substance, the "one pot treasury" idea advanced by Governor Cline two years ago, and which never got beyond the incubation stage. This proposal would abolish the system of continuing appropriations and earmarked revenues which the Brookings Institute says is "an outstanding evil. It tends to expand into more and more functions and to secure assured financing, to give the state control and to tap the general revenue fund in case of shortage."

But any proposed act to place the recommendations in effect of 1941 will be passed only after the good bodies of the "budget" and "one pot treasury" are established. The second recommendation proposes an independent, strict budget control of all funds collected and disbursed. This is, in substance, the "one pot treasury" idea advanced by Governor Cline two years ago, and which never got beyond the incubation stage. This proposal would abolish the system of continuing appropriations and earmarked revenues which the Brookings Institute says is "an outstanding evil. It tends to expand into more and more functions and to secure assured financing, to give the state control and to tap the general revenue fund in case of shortage."

These same groups plus the bondholders will scrutinize with a great deal of care any proposed legislation to carry out the third step recommended by the Brookings Institute which is "state control of the funded debt; refunding and adjustment of cities, districts and other taxing agencies. A number of old age pension bills will be submitted to the legislature, proposing payments of from $40 to $60 per month and decreasing the age limit to 60 years. Plans for raising the necessary money to provide these pensions will include a general transaction tax of three percent, a luxury tax on cigarettes, chewing gum, theater tickets, an increase in the tax on betting at the race tracks and the taking over by the state of the old-cents break at the tracks, a tax on the sale of automobiles, a state income tax, a tax on junk organs, and any other kind of tax proponents can think of to bring in money.

Florida's 90-day residence divorce law, which has made this state a Mecca for unhappy spouses and a gold mine for divorce lawyers, is slated for a battering at the hands of the legislature. The law giving wives equal rights with their husbands in property management and contractual transactions will be proposed and bitterly debated.

Junk joints will hold the spotlight for a while, though legislative proposals for their elimination from the social scene, increased license, and stricter control. The Lake County League of Municipalities are sponsoring a bill which would prohibit all "junk joints" and liquor selling establishments and incorporate limits of the towns of Lake County.

Legislators from South Florida have introduced a bill to establish a hospital for the treatment of persons mentally ill established in the southern part of the state. Similar proposals have been made before without success.

Two new proposed laws will be active in affecting motorists. The first will increase driver's licenses from fifty cents to one dollar for private operators. The second will increase the state's support of the county judges and receipts will be used to pay the judges more for issuing the license, increase the number of patrolmen, and establish a state-wide radio system for police work.

The second proposed law will require two motor vehicle inspections each year and the introduction of every motor vehicle. A body, repressed waterfront controversy, who is usually in the line of druggery, is played by Charles Laughton in "The Charge of the Light Brigade." The picture, which opens on Sunday, stars Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland, and was directed by Michael Curtiz. The same triple-threat combination which made such all-time hits as "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Dodge City," and "John Ford."

Also featured in the stellar cast are Raymond Massey, fresh from his stage and screen triumph in "The Lincoln in Illinois," Ronald Reagan in another great role after his success as "The Gipper" in "Kitty Foyle—All American," Van Heflin, Katherine Hepburn's leading man in "The Philadelphia Story," Alan Hale, William Lundigan, Gene Reynolds and Henry O'Neill.

Several parents of the members of the Boy Scouts at Canal Point, attended the latest meeting of that body, and were entertained by a diversified program put on by the scouts. A display of kites was on exhibit, as this was the project of the boys for the past month, and there were some mighty nifty air flyers. This coming month the boys will make soap bar races, which they expect to enter and use in the tournament to be held in West Palm Beach next month. Billy Jernigan and Billy Egan were advanced to the Wolf rank status, on a basis of their study work of the month. A meeting night has been made from the last Friday to the first Monday night of each month.
